Civil Action No. 1:14-cv-08196

Judge Harry D. Leinenweber

Magistrate Judge Susan E. Cox

PERMANENT INJUNCTION

Following the jury's verdict, finding that Defendants willfully infringed each of Plaintiffs' design patents, Plaintiffs' ODEON trademark, and Plaintiffs' copyright rights in all eight (8) of the asserted copyrighted designs, the Court has determined that a permanent injunction against any further infringement is necessary and appropriate. As determined by the jury's verdict, Defendants' infringing goods include the following products, and are listed together with Defendants' associated product codes:<sup>1, 2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Defendants have sold certain of the infringing products under various product names throughout the course of Defendants' sales history, and throughout this litigation. At trial, Defendants testified that, regardless of any potential changes in the name of a product sold by Defendants or their various distributors, Defendants use a single six-character alphanumeric (SKU) product code for each individual product. Accordingly, the Court will rely on: (a) those six-character product codes as the unique identifiers that will govern the terms and enforcement of this permanent injunction; (b) Defendants' various trademarks for the goods; and (c) the photographs of the goods shown in Schedule A. Any attempt by Defendants to change any of the product codes associated with any infringing products may be viewed as contempt of court, relative to this Order and Permanent Injunction.
